

Environment, technology and regulation
CGR&IS Seminar Series 2018-19

Patrick Cleary

Prudential Regulation Authority Bank of England

is giving a talk on

Responding to climate change financial risks: What do insurers need to do?

A recent BoE study has shown that only 1 in 10 UK banks are making long term plans for the catastrophic risk of climate change. Patrick Cleary chairs the meetings of the BoE insurance supervision climate change specialism which considers the financial risks arising from climate change risk for insurers and the financial sector.

Wednesday, 24 October 2018
2:15-3:30pm
room: 3E2.2