

DEPOSIT LICENCE INSTITUTIONAL REPOSITORY (Pure)

Why is this non-exclusive Deposit Licence required?

The University of Bath supports the long-term preservation of, and free access to, research documents produced by its members. It does this through its institutional repository, which is available via the Current Research Information System (Pure) and surfaced online via our research portal (<https://researchportal.bath.ac.uk/>).

To undertake this work, Library staff need permission to store, copy and manipulate the material in order to ensure that it can be preserved and made available in the future.

This deposit licence agreement is designed to give Library staff the right to do this, and to confirm that you, the depositor, have the right to submit the material to the repository. This agreement is non-exclusive, and therefore does not prevent you exercising any rights you might have to publish the material, in its present or future versions, elsewhere.

By agreeing, you will be granting a non-exclusive licence to the University of Bath (acting through Pure) in respect of the particular material you wish to deposit now, subject to and in accordance with the terms and conditions set out below.

1. Covered Work

- 1.1. I, the Depositor, would like to deposit my Work in the University of Bath's Institutional Repository (Pure).
- 1.2. The term "Work" used in this deposit licence agreement means the particular item(s) or material(s) which I chose to deposit now in Pure, including abstract, text, images, audio and related data.

2. Depositor's declaration

I grant a non-exclusive licence to the University of Bath ("the University") to present the Work on Pure, and I warrant that:

- 2.1. I am the sole author of, and sole owner of the copyright in, the whole Work (including content & layout), or am duly authorised by the author(s) and owner(s) (including any co-authors and co-owners) to make this agreement;
- 2.2. The Work is not and shall be in no way a violation or infringement of any copyright, trademark, patent, or other rights whatsoever of any third party, nor does it contain defamatory material or false or misleading research results;
- 2.3. If the Work has been commissioned, sponsored or supported by any organisation, I have fulfilled all of the obligations required by such contract(s) or agreement(s);

- 2.4. I have read and understand the copyright guidelines for authors depositing work in Pure available from the Library website;
- 2.5. If there is any restriction on public access to the Work that has been agreed with a third party (for the protection of patent applications or other intellectual property rights, any third party rights or other reason) I will notify the nature of this restriction when depositing the Work in Pure.
- 2.6. I acknowledge that any serious breach of these warranties may amount to misconduct which may give rise to disciplinary proceedings.

3. Rights granted to the University

The University (acting through Pure) may:

- 3.1. distribute copies of the Work (including the abstract) worldwide, in electronic format via any medium in perpetuity for the purpose of free access without charge (except for associated media costs);
- 3.2. electronically store, migrate, copy, or re-arrange the Work to ensure its future preservation and accessibility, unless and until notified by the Depositor that specific restrictions apply;
- 3.3. incorporate metadata (description data about the item) or documentation into public access catalogues for the Work. A metadata citation to the Work will always remain visible;
- 3.4. make Higher Degree theses available via the British Library's Electronic Theses Online Service (EThOS) and similar theses services.

The above rights are subject to any restriction agreed with a third party which still exists on publication of the Work and which I have expressly notified to Pure at the time of deposit.

Additionally, the University shall:

- 3.5. have the right to remove the Work from Pure for professional or administrative reasons, or if it is found to violate the copyright or any other legal rights of a third party. A metadata citation to the Work will remain;
- 3.6. not be under any obligation to take legal action on behalf of the Depositor or other rights holders in the event of breach of intellectual property rights or any other right in the material deposited;
- 3.7. not be under any obligation to reproduce, transmit, broadcast, or display the Work in the same format or software as that in which it was originally created.

4. Other Provision

- 4.1. While every care will be taken to preserve the physical integrity of the Work, the University shall incur no liability, either expressed or implicit, for the Work or for the loss of or damage to any of the Work or associated data.
