GENERAL INTRODUCTION

PROVENANCE

The material was assembled over a number of years by Mike Egan and Andy Archibald on behalf of Pentathlon GB (formerly the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain). It was deposited at the University of Bath Library in a series of instalments beginning in 2009.

OUTLINE OF THE HISTORY OF MODERN PENTATHLON

Modern Pentathlon was the brain child of Baron Pierre de Coubertin (1863-1937) one of the founders of the modern Olympic movement. It was his long held ambition to introduce to the Olympic programme a competition that would be the ultimate test of the truly all round athlete requiring moral qualities, skill and physical ability. The sport was finally adopted in 1911 at the fourteenth session of the International Olympic Committee in Budapest and made its Olympic debut the following year at the fifth Olympiad in Stockholm, Sweden. The competition (for men only) took place over six days; the order of the five events was shooting, swimming, fencing, horse riding and running. In addition to the men's individual competition, a men's team competition was held at each Olympic Games from 1952 to 1992. The first women's individual competition was held at the 2000 Olympic Games, in Sydney, Australia. Over the years the rules relating to the modern pentathlon at the Olympic Games have changed frequently. At the present time there are individual men's and women's competitions, each held over a single day consisting of fencing, swimming, horse riding and a combined run and shoot event.

At first the sport of modern pentathlon at an international level was administered by a sub-committee of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) under the title Comité Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne Olympique (CIPMO). A separate governing body for modern pentathlon, the Fédération Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (FIP), was founded at a meeting in Sandhurst, Berkshire, UK, on 3rd August 1948. In 1949 the CIPMO was disbanded and the IOC ratified the FIP, but under the title Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (UIPM), as the sport's international governing body. From this time onwards the number of international modern pentathlon competitions held around the world began to increase.

National governing bodies existed in a number of countries from an early stage. The Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain (MPAGB) was founded in 1923. In 2003 the MPAGB was incorporated and rebranded as Pentathlon GB governing modern pentathlon in Great Britain and Northern Ireland. The Scottish Modern Pentathlon Association was also incorporated in 2003 and was replaced in 2014 by Pentathlon Scotland.

The organisation and growth of modern pentathlon in the UK reflected developments happening overseas as the sport steadily became more popular. The armed forces were at the forefront of modern pentathlon from the outset, with military personnel dominating in terms of both management and participation, but from the late 1950s civilian involvement gradually increased and youth competitions were introduced to encourage wider take up. It was not until the 1970s that women really began to compete seriously at domestic and international level.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COLLECTION

The material is presented in the order given in the contents list. It covers the period 1923 to 2017.

Section A, Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain/Pentathlon GB, contains items relating to the UK governing body and its successor Pentathlon GB. These include committee minutes, constitutional documentation, training and coaching literature and handbooks. Correspondence in this section covers topics such as the organisation of international events, funding cuts, youth engagement initiatives and testing for prohibited substances. There is also a comprehensive collection of periodicals and publications covering the period from 1960 to 2006. After 2006 the volume of printed literature declined as the Pentathlon GB website became the main channel of communication with members. There is a small amount of regional material mainly consisting of committee minutes and newsletters.

Section B, Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (UIPM), is comprised of material relating to the international governing body for modern pentathlon. It contains documentation relating to statutes, regulations and rules, the annual meeting of congress, competition organisation and associated administrative papers. A series of periodicals and other official publications and promotional literature cover the period from 1960 to 2009.

Section C, Armed Forces Modern Pentathlon Organisations, contains material representing the branches of the UK armed forces with a modern pentathlon association, but focuses particularly on the Army Modern Pentathlon Association (AMPA) and the Combined Services Modern Pentathlon Association (CSMPA). The section includes committee minutes, administrative papers, newsletters and a range of material relating to the management of the Army Modern Pentathlon Training Centre, later the Southern Region Centre of Excellence and the National Training Centre for Modern Pentathlon.

Section D, Civilian Modern Pentathlon Organisations, comprises material relating to UK civilian modern pentathlon clubs arranged alphabetically by the name of the club. Records relating to the Lewisham Lions (Sealions) Modern Pentathlon Club are of particular significance. Material ranging in date from the 1950s up to the 2000s, includes correspondence, committee records, administrative papers, reports, newsletters and circulars.

Section E, Press Cuttings, contains both collections of press cuttings, covering the period from 1948 to 2003, and loose press cuttings covering the period from 1924 to 2014. The 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal, Canada and the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia are both well represented.

Section F, Research, Histories, Exhibitions & Biographical Material, consists of material gathered by individuals and groups concerned with creating exhibitions, writing histories and promotional pieces or establishing an archival resource. It includes documentation associated with a display to mark the 50th anniversary of Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (UIPM) in 1998, and short histories and explanatory texts relating to the sport of modern pentathlon. In addition the section contains biographies and biographical material relating to various prominent figures in the modern pentathlon world.

Section G, Photographic Material, comprises a wide range of modern pentathlon related prints, negatives and transparencies covering the period from 1924 to 2008. Individual pentathletes, teams, competitions, both in the UK and overseas, training sessions, publicity campaigns and other events are all well represented. There is a substantial amount of material that it has not been possible to date. There are also a small number of personal photographic collections assembled by Leslie Wieler, Robbie Phelps and Errol Lonsdale.

Section H, Competitions, the largest in the collection, contains material covering the period from 1912 to 2011 relating to modern pentathlon competitions of all types; regional, national and international, male and female, junior and senior. Based mainly on material assembled by the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain (MPAGB), collections of material from other sources such as the Army Modern Pentathlon Association (AMPA) and Lewisham Lions (Sealions) Modern Pentathlon Club have been incorporated into this section. It includes a large amount of detailed results data, lists of participants, competition programmes and papers associated with organisational and administrative matters. There are also team manager briefings and reports, and some images, press cuttings and ephemera. Material relating to a number of tetrathlon, triathlon, and biathlon competitions are also included in this section.

Section J, Ephemera, is composed of items, with a promotional or commemorative function, associated with individual pentathletes or with modern pentathlon competitions and organisations. It includes neckties, pennants, posters, clothing and trophies. There are also two official's cloth arm bands used during the 1948 Olympic Games in London and items of official British Olympic team strip worn by pentathletes competing at the 1952 and 1976 Olympic Games.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We are very grateful for the work and support of Andy Archibald, Terry Bunyard, Mike Egan, Monty Mortimer and John Woodbridge in making this material available. In addition we acknowledge the assistance of former USA pentathlete William Vendl and Malcolm Heppolette, pictorial archivist at REME Museum of Technology.

SECTION A MODERN PENTATHLON ASSOCIATION OF GREAT BRITAIN/PENTATHLON GB A/1-A/10

This section contains material relating to the establishment, development and business of the governing body of the sport of modern pentathlon in the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland, the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain (MPAGB) and its successor Pentathlon GB.

In the autumn of 1923 a series of meetings of interested parties known as the Modern Pentathlon Committee took place. The aim of the Committee was to set up a governing body for the sport in Great Britain sanctioned by the British Olympic Association and, following on from these preliminary meetings, the first formal meeting of the Modern Pentathlon Association was held in January 1924.

In 2003 the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain became a company limited by guarantee and was rebranded as Pentathlon GB.

A/10 REGIONS 1976-1996

Material in this sub-section consists of correspondence, minutes, notices, regional newsletters, reports, results and other associated material relating to the management and governance of modern pentathlon at a regional level.

The formal organisation of the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain (MPAGB) at a regional level was first suggested by Colin Peace and Michael Proudfoot in 1968. Steps towards the formation of a regional structure were then taken by the Development Committee over the period 1972 to 1974. The Development Committee worked with the Sports Council on the matter using their recommended geographical model. From the outset here were eight regions within England and national associations for Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

A/10/4-A/10/8 Southern Region 1976-1986

Correspondence and papers relating to the organisation and management of regional business and events including training courses, competitions and annual general meetings, 1976-1986.

The material appears to be the property of Major G.W. Lyon, Southern Region Chairman and Honorary Secretary of the Army Modern Pentathlon Association (AMPA).

The original order, with the most recent material at the front, has been preserved.

Divided into five folders for ease of reference.

SECTION B UNION INTERNATIONALE DE PENTATHLON
MODERNE (UIPM) B/1-B/3

The papers in this section are those of the international governing body for modern pentathlon. Fédération Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (FIP) was founded at a meeting in Sandhurst, Berkshire, UK, on 3 August 1948. Those attending were representatives of national modern pentathlon teams competing in the 1948 London Olympic Games. The FIP objectives were to represent and co-ordinate national modern pentathlon associations and to organise an annual world championships.

Until 1948 the sport was administered, at an international level, by a sub-committee of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) under the title Comité Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne Olympique (CIPMO). In 1949 CIPMO was disbanded and the IOC ratified FIP but under the title Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (UIPM).

Biathlon (cross-country skiing and rifle shooting) was added to the Olympic programme in 1960 and became affiliated to UIPM although it was not until 1968 that UIPM changed its name to Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne et Biathlon (UIPMB) to reflect this. Biathlon developed as a sport and the International Biathlon Union (IBU) was formed in 1993 so that, under the umbrella of the UIPMB, there was the IBU and the UIPM. In 1998 IBU formally separated from UIPMB. In that year UIPMB dropped Biathlon from its title to become once again, UIPM.

SECTION C	ARMED FORCES MODERN PENTATHLON ORGANISATIONS	C/1-C/5
------------------	---	----------------

This section contains material, including administrative records, correspondence and minutes of meetings, relating to the various modern pentathlon associations formed within the UK armed forces. Formal armed forces modern pentathlon associations appear to have come into existence in the 1950s, prior to this the armed forces largely ran the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain and this substituted for any separate bodies. The Royal Army Service Corps (RASC) Modern Pentathlon Association was founded in 1953. The Combined Services Modern Pentathlon Association was founded in 1955 and it appears that other formal armed forces associations came into existence at about the same time.

SECTION D CIVILIAN MODERN PENTATHLON ORGANISATIONS D/1-D/9

This section contains material relating to a range of civilian modern pentathlon organisations in the UK. Predominantly a military sport during its development and earl history, the first UK civilian modern pentathlon clubs were established in the late 1950s. Oxford University Modern Pentathlon Club was established in 1958 as was Cambridge University Modern Pentathlon Club. The first Varsity Match in 1958 was also the first civilian event held in the country. Political unrest in Hungary led to some Hungarian pentathletes relocating to the UK and a team attended the 1957 Army Modern Pentathlon Championships. Joe Buscko was one of these Hungarian pentathletes. He joined Cheltenham Swimming Club where he co-opted some of the club members to form the first open club in 1959, Cheltenham Modern Pentathlon Club. Also attending the 1957 Championships was a member of the Metropolitan Police which suggests that they too had formed a club at this time.

The first school clubs were also established in this period and included clubs at Millfield School, Somerset, Whitgift School, South Croydon and Highgate School, London.

SECTION F RESEARCH, HISTORIES, EXHIBITIONS & BIOGRAPHICAL MATERIAL F/1-F/3

This section consists mainly of secondary material relating to the sport of modern pentathlon assembled by members of the Union Internationale de Pentathlon Moderne (UIPM) and the Modern Pentathlon Association of Great Britain (MPAGB). Associated with the compilation of histories, newspaper articles, introductions, commentaries and exhibitions, the material is presented here as an easily accessible set of reference resources created and used by those within the sport.

A number of MPAGB members were particularly active researchers. These include Mike Egan, who was closely involved in establishing the MPAGB archive, and Terry Bunyard, a former Chairman of the Army Modern Pentathlon Association (AMPA) and MPAGB, as well as a member of the UIPM Cultural Commission. Some of the material in this section was used in the writing of Modern Pentathlon: A Centenary History: 1912-2012, by Andy Archibald.

SECTION G PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIAL G/1-G/3

This section contains a broad range of photographic material including colour and black and white photographic prints, photographic negatives and colour and black and white film transparencies (slides). The material has been brought together from a number of different sources, military and civilian, comprising both official and unofficial, less formal images of all aspects of the sport of modern pentathlon. Contributors include, but are not limited to, Errol Lonsdale, Chris Wales, S. D. Sowerby Leslie Wieler and Terry Bunyard.

The largest component of the section comprises a chronological sequence of dated (or datable) photographic material recording various modern pentathlon-related events, activities, occasions and personalities during the period from 1924 to 2008. Individually the items in this section document moments of importance and interest as they happened, together they provide an extraordinary visual history of the sport of modern pentathlon.

G/3 COLLECTIONS c 1940s-1981

The material in this sub-section consists of a small number of substantial photographic collections compiled by various individuals over time. They have been preserved as collections, separate from the chronological sequence of dated photographic material, because they relate to or have been assembled by individuals of particular prominence in the sport of modern pentathlon.

G/3/1-G/3/4 Collection of photographic material relating to Robbie Phelps, c 1940s-late 1960s.

Robbie Phelps was born in 1939 and made his living as a scrap metal merchant. He took up the sport of modern pentathlon in 1959, joining Cheltenham Modern Pentathlon Club, one of the first civilian clubs in the UK. Not long afterwards he founded Spartan Modern Pentathlon Club based in Gloucester. He went on to have a long and successful career in the sport competing in multiple World Championships and at the 1964, 1968 and 1972 Olympic Games.

61 black and white photographic prints and nine associated black and white photographic negatives relating to all aspects of Robbie Phelps career as a pentathlete, but focusing particularly on training for the sport's five disciplines.

Some of the prints also feature Robbie's older brother, John Phelps.

Four folders.
