Student's conduct gives cause for concern

What is the nature of the concern? Is it primarily related to fitness to study, misconduct (academic or other) or an assessment or examination offence?

The concern relates to the student's health and well being (Fitness to Study Policy)

The concern relates to misconduct (Disciplinary Regulations)

In the course of investigation, have fitness to practise issues emerged for a programme listed in the Appendix of the Fitness to Practise Policy?

Yes

Use Fitness to Practise policy

No

Use Disciplinary Regulations

In the course of investigation, have fitness to practise issues emerged for a programme listed in the Appendix of the Fitness to Practise Policy?

Yes

Use Fitness to Practise policy

No

Use QA53 procedures

The concern relates to an assessment or exam offence (QA53)

In the course of investigation, have fitness to practise issues emerged for a programme listed in the Appendix of the Fitness to Practise Policy?

Yes

Use Fitness to Practise policy

No

Use QA53 procedures

Note: The Fitness to Practise Policy outlines (para 1.4) the normal procedure for dealing with cases but emphasises that determination of the procedure may be varied to suit the circumstances presenting