

Procurement process using external research funding

This note is effective from 11th June 2020

To support the University restarting research activities on and off campus, the interim procurement measures, in particular the lowering of the threshold to £2k, will no longer apply to the procurement of goods and services using external research funding.

This will mean a supporting Bid Evaluation Document (BED) or Single Action Waiver (SAW) is no longer necessary for any externally funded research expenditure over the interim £2k threshold.

Therefore, in line with the standard University Procurement Policy the £10k threshold will be reinstated for expenditure related to external research funding research only.

In order to maintain the necessary control over University finances, if there is any element of operational/University funded expenditure within the requisition then the interim procurement measures will continue to apply.

If you have any queries over the application of these changes please contact a member of the Procurement team or email procurement@bath.ac.uk
