PURPOSE AND SCOPE

Your handbook for academic year 2024/25 comprises the following three documents which should be read alongside each other:

1. Student handbook: university information
2. Department handbook (this document)
3. Your course specification

These documents were made available to you as at the beginning of the academic year and/or the start of your studies. You are expected to familiarise yourself with the contents.

This handbook includes important information, about the Department and your course, that you should be aware of whilst studying here.

This handbook can be provided in alternative formats. Please contact mpp-hcdadmin@bath.ac.uk

The content of this handbook is accurate at the time of publication (September 2024) but information contained within may sometimes be subject to change after this handbook has been issued. You will be informed of any changes and issued with a revised version, if there are any material changes to the information in this handbook.

Please note that links to further information are embedded in the title of each section or in applicable text.

THE DEPARTMENT

INTRODUCTION TO THE DEPARTMENT

HEAD OF DEPARTMENT WELCOME 2024/25

Welcome from the public policy team.

Welcome to the MSc Public Policy at the University of Bath.

It is an extremely important time to be studying public policy the rapidly changing policy landscape highlights how government officials must respond to the global and domestic pressures which influence businesses, households and individuals. It is therefore imperative policy professionals have the appropriate analytical tools in order to respond to complex challenges, identify new or reform existing programmes ultimately to raise living standards and ensure society is prosperous.

The programme team is looking forward to working with you to learn about, and critically evaluate, developments in public policy, and to enhance your understanding of the wider contexts within which public policy is made. This means reflecting on vital questions of how power is exercised in public policy, when and how policy change emerges, and how we can understand its effects, both direct and indirect. There are opportunities to enhance your understanding of public policy in a range of fields – in and beyond those with which you are familiar. This will include the opportunity to develop skills in analysis, research and synthesis for policy-related environments.

We have a skilled, experienced and enthusiastic teaching team of public policy specialists providing the core teaching for the programme. They include political scientists, economists, policy anthropologists and sociologists, and digital specialists. All staff have their own research expertise in distinct public policy areas that informs the programme content and discussion. This might be in specific regions of the world; particular institutions and processes; or policy domains. These staff are also joined by others from across the University who will contribute their research knowledge and expertise to presentations at the residentials; and in supervising your projects.

Undertaking a master's programme, especially one that involves both online and face-to-face learning, while also working, is very much a collaborative and sometimes challenging endeavour.

New ideas and ways of thinking about public policy emerge through a combination of reading, reflection, writing, listening and questioning (both ourselves and others). This is what it means to have a 'learning community' for our programme. We all have a lot to learn from each other and the programme will work best when students share responsibility for participation. If you face problems which prevent you from participating regularly please contact your Academic Advisor in first instance.

The purpose of this Handbook is to provide information and guidance to help you with your studies. It covers the ethos, structure and organisation of the programme. It also contains a large amount of specific information about University and programme-level regulations. It is really important that you understand this information and how the programme works, so please read it carefully as it should answer many of the queries that you have throughout your time on the programme.

We are sure that being a student again will be a challenge at times, but hopefully a fun and rewarding one!

We look forward to working with you.

Dr Ricky Kanabar
Director of Studies

DEPARTMENTAL INFORMATION INCLUDING COURSE TEAMS

YOUR PROGRAMME

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF BATH AND THE PUBLIC POLICY PROGRAMME

Welcome to the University of Bath. The MSc in Public Policy is delivered by the Department for Social and Policy Sciences within the Faculty of Humanities & Social Sciences \(HSS\). The Faculty is one of three Faculties and one School in the University (see below) and comprises six academic Departments.

Economics, Education, Health, Politics, Languages & International Politics, Psychology and Social & Policy Sciences.

Faculty H&SS Taught Programmes Administration

Undergraduate and Postgraduate Taught (Masters) programmes are delivered by academic staff in departments, with administrative support provided by our Taught Programmes Team. Our Taught Programmes Team consist of expert Managers, Officers, Administrators and Administrative Assistants, located in Hub Offices across our Faculty buildings – 3 East, 1 West North, 1 West and 10 West.

Our Taught Programmes Team is responsible for all aspects of administrative support for all taught programmes in the Faculty, ensuring that services are efficient, effective and adapt to changing circumstances. We provide students with support and advice from registration to graduation, and support academic teaching staff in our departments.

Our duties include:

- managing administrative processes of the Faculty's taught programmes
- acting as a central point of contact for staff and students seeking advice
- offering programme-related operational support for academic teaching staff in departments

It is important that you get to know the administrators who look after your particular programme, as they can often provide invaluable guidance on various aspects of the programme. If your administrator is unavailable then please speak to any other of our other administrators listed on our wiki page here, all of whom will be very happy to help you. If you have any problems, then please contact one of the Programmes Officers or Managers.

Emails are managed via shared mailboxes to deal with enquiries from students and academic staff and these are regularly monitored by designated members of the team.

YOUR DEPARTMENT

The MSc in Public Policy is led by the Department for Social and Policy Sciences. Core teaching staff contributing to the programme also come from the Department of Politics and International Studies, and the Department of Economics and the Institute for Policy Research.

Information regarding the department, including a list of academic staff, their individual research interests, departmental research activities and news items can be found at <http://www.bath.ac.uk/departments/department-of-social-policy-sciences/>, <http://www.bath.ac.uk/departments/department-of-politics-languages-international-studies/>, <http://www.bath.ac.uk/departments/department-of-economics/> <https://www.bath.ac.uk/collections/institute-for-policy-research/>

Academic Advisor (formerly known as Personal Tutor)

At the start of 2024/25 the role of Personal Tutor was renamed Academic Advisor to better reflect the nature of the role.

When you join the University, you are assigned an academic staff member as an Academic Advisor. They will act as a personalised point of contact throughout your time here, supporting your transition, and your academic and personal development. It is important to respond to communications and requests from your Academic Advisor, and to attend scheduled meetings.

Your Academic Advisor can provide information and guidance about:

- your transition into the University community and your academic studies
- unit choices, placement opportunities and future career plans
- sources of support with any personal matters or situations involving your health and wellbeing that may be impacting your studies
- providing you with a reference for work experience, internships, your placement, further studies or career

CONTACT INFORMATION

YOUR KEY STAFF CONTACTS

The programmes administrator, Susie Freeman, is also available during office hours (typically 8.30-13.00 and 13.30-16:30 Monday, Tuesday and Thursday). Please email her on mpp-hcdadmin@bath.ac.uk If you can't find anybody to speak to or you have not had your queries answered, please contact the Faculty Taught Programme Management Team (details above). Also see 'staying in touch' below.

EXTERNAL EXAMINERS

External Examiners are appointed for a course or set of courses and are important in assuring academic quality and standards. Please note that it is not appropriate for students to contact an External Examiner directly. If you have any queries or concerns, please contact your Director of Studies in the first instance.

The MSc Public Policy External Examiner is Dr Gideon Calder, Swansea University

THE UNIVERSITY'S EXPECTATIONS OF STUDENTS

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS

When you registered with the University you agreed to abide by the Regulations for Students. These are important documents which set out the roles and responsibilities of both you as a student and the University. You are expected to familiarise yourself with these.

ATTENDANCE EXPECTATIONS

You are expected to be in attendance and participate in all scheduled learning and teaching activities required by your course. If you require a leave of absence from the University for any reason, please contact: mpp-hcdadmin@bath.ac.uk If you are ill, or think that you are likely to be ill, for more than three days, please get in touch with the above-named contact within three days of becoming ill.

LEARNING AND TEACHING DELIVERY

TIMETABLES

Unit timetables can be found in the Programme Calendar on Moodle. Any ad hoc changes to your teaching schedule will be conveyed to you via the Announcement forums on Moodle and /or relayed by email using course and unit mailing lists.

LEARNING RESOURCES, MOODLE, AND RECORDED LECTURES

Moodle is the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) used at the University of Bath. It is used by academic Departments to support learning and teaching at programme and unit level. It provides a platform for the delivery of resources and online activities, and can also support student interaction and collaboration. This is the primary learning platform for the MSc Public Policy programme.

The information contained on Moodle is extremely important and you are strongly recommended to check these pages regularly for updates. Moodle can be accessed by anyone with a University of Bath username and password without the need for training. You can access this information from any PC at the University or elsewhere.

Programme-specific pages including forms, instructions for coursework submissions, dissertation requirements, dissertation supervision guidelines, marking guidelines and links to other resources can be found at MPP online.

Induction: The online Induction Unit and the associated Induction Event aim to prepare students for the academic, technical and social demands of their programme of study. We recommend that all students participate in the Induction Unit prior to beginning their programme of study, and that students make every effort to attend the on-campus Induction Event.

To get started, go to: Course: Masters in Public Policy \(bath.ac.uk\)

Watch the animation 'A brief introduction to Moodle and this unit', and have a look at the Moodle pages for one of your first units.

Key Programme Materials and links to other resources can be found on the Programme's Moodle Home page.

Further information

MSc Public Policy Moodle page

OPTION CHOICES

If your course has option choices, then information about how and when to choose your optional units can be found online. If applicable, you will receive an email notification at the relevant point in the year when online unit selection is available. If you want to discuss your option choices, please contact your Director of Studies.

STUDENT REPRESENTATION

Mechanisms for student representation are designed to enable you to be an active partner in continually improving your learning and teaching experience. The main ways in which your feedback will be sought will be through:

- Staff/Student Liaison Committees (SSLCs) (Academic and Faculty Reps)
- surveys and evaluations
- the Students' Union

ASSESSMENT

ASSESSMENT REGULATIONS

The Postgraduate Taught Assessment Regulations (PGTAR) set out the rules for your course including: how the University governs your outcomes; progression requirements and what happens if you fail; award eligibility and how your classification is calculated. If your course has any exemptions to the Postgraduate Taught Assessment Regulations, you will find this information in your course specification. You are expected to familiarise yourself with these.

SUPPLEMENTARY ASSESSMENT

Supplementary assessment describes the type of assessment you will be expected to undertake either to retrieve failure in a unit's main assessment or in the case of deferred assessment.

More information on the timing of supplementary assessment is provided in PGTAR. Supplementary assessment may be held during the summer (August). You may be required to return to Bath to sit any in-person supplementary exams during the August supplementary assessment period.

EXIT AWARDS

If you leave the University early, without completing your course, you may be eligible for an exit award. You will find information on these awards in your course specification.

SWITCHING COURSES

If you are considering transferring to a different course, where this would be permitted, you should speak to your Director of Studies in the first instance. In certain circumstances you may be able to or may be required to transfer onto a specific alternative course, known as a Designated Alternative Course/Programme (DAC/P) if you have not met the criteria to remain on your current course of study.

Academic Registry have also published further information and guidance on assessment arrangements. This also includes a link to the University's Academic Integrity Training and Test. All students will be unable to progress beyond the next progression point in their studies until they pass the test. The test has a pass mark of 85% but you can take the test as many times as you need to.

INDIVIDUAL MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES (IMCS)

We acknowledge that you may experience circumstances that disrupt your assessment attempt or performance. Submitting an IMC claim allows you to report any conditions which prevented you from taking assessment or significantly impaired your performance. If accepted an IMC recognises that your assessment was affected.

You are expected to familiarise yourself with the information available about IMCs including the process for submission, the evidence requirements, how claims are considered and what can (and cannot) happen if a claim is accepted as valid.

COURSEWORK

Assignment briefs, word counts and deadlines

UNIT ASSESSMENT

Each unit is assessed individually. The assignments are delivered and must be submitted online and the formative assessment includes moderated online discussions and feedback on essay plans.

Summative assessment will vary between units but will typically include some of the following:

- Essays
- Case studies
- Group presentations
- Blog posts
- Contribution to web discussion forums

In order to successfully complete the unit, you must gain 50% or above in each summative assessment, unless otherwise stated.

Details on how to submit coursework can be found on Moodle.

Students are reminded that it is the student's responsibility to submit their assignments online in the appropriate location by the due date, unless an extension has been discussed with the Director of Studies prior to the due date.

Full details regarding the rules of assessment can be found in the Programme Regulations.

COURSEWORK EXTENSIONS

If you find you are facing circumstances that are preventing you from submitting on time you can request an extension to your deadline before the work is due. Short extensions are often granted but occasionally there may be a better measure to support you depending on your individual circumstances and the type of assessment. You will need to give a brief explanation of how your circumstances are impacting on your ability to complete on time. Extension requests require evidence to confirm what has happened and when.

Details about applying for a coursework extension can be found on Moodle.

LATE SUBMISSION OF COURSEWORK

To ensure fairness to all students, you will be expected to hand in all assessed coursework and dissertations/projects by a specified date and time, and there are penalties for submitting work after the specified deadline. If you are experiencing difficulties completing work on time, please seek help before the deadline.

WORD COUNTS

Coursework tasks will normally have a word limit or word range. This, and the penalty for non-compliance, will be confirmed when you receive an assignment.

Written coursework tasks will normally have a word range or limit. This is in order to give an indication of the depth and detail of work required, and to ensure that students' submitted work is comparable. You will be required to declare the word count for your work when submitting it for assessment.

If you do not observe the given word range or limit for the coursework task, for example if you exceed the word limit, then a penalty will be applied. The penalty that would apply should be stated in writing when the assignment task is distributed. You should take note of what is included when calculating the total word count (e.g. whether or not contents pages, appendices, footnotes, bibliographies and other elements that are not part of the main text are included).

You should check with your Director of Studies if you have questions about word counts and penalties.

Word limits will be published with each assessment and must be adhered to.

Your programme has adopted the University's default policy for non-compliance with the word limit or word range in accordance with QA16 (www.bath.ac.uk/quality/documents/QA16.pdf) as below:

- The marker(s) will stop reading the work once the student has exceeded a word limit (or the upper figure of a word range) by 10%. If a student writes less than the word limit (or the lower figure of a word range) they risk not maximising their potential mark;
- For the purpose of calculating the word count, footnotes are included, whereas contents pages, executive summaries, tables, figures, appendices and reference lists/bibliographies are excluded.

KEY PROGRAMME TERMINOLOGY

Moodle pages: 'Moodle' is the name of the virtual learning environment at Bath, where all online programme information is stored. It is used by academic Departments to support learning and teaching at programme and unit level. It is a platform for the delivery of resources and online activities, and can also support student interaction and collaboration. The MSc Public Policy has a set of dedicated pages in which you can find all content, additional resources and links to further information.

Learning resources hub: programme-level repository of library/writing skills/additional guides, accessible within the programme's Moodle pages

Case study library hub: programme-level repository of public policy case study materials on specific case studies.

Unit: Basic component part of the programme, with specific learning objectives and assessments. There are four taught units in the MSc Public Policy.

Block: the basic sub-division of unit content that groups topics under a common theme. Each block covers 3-6 topics and includes a webinar/online group discussion on the overall theme. Blocks may have an assessment attached.

Topic: sub-division of block. Content for the programme is mostly presented through topics & topic guides. A topic would normally cover learning and reading for two weeks.

Block guide: a pdf document introducing all the topics in a particular block, setting out key reading, and the significant questions & debates of the topic, as well as introducing additional resources, activities and links to wider reading.

Discussion forum: Each topic is completed with a discussion forum activity. This is usually structured around one or two key questions linked to reading or another resource (e.g. film). These must be completed by the set date (see programme calendar on the programme hub.) Academic staff responsible for each specialist topic will provide feedback on the forum contributions during the topic period or in the week following.

MARKING AND FEEDBACK

We have in place processes to ensure that assessment is conducted and marked in a fair and rigorous manner which upholds the academic standards of the University. You can find further information on such processes, and their purpose, on our website.

Postgraduate Taught Generic Assessment Criteria

This Faculty-level generic assessment criteria is used by academic staff when designing assessment tasks. It shows the standards of work expected for work submitted as part of postgraduate taught courses that use the Postgraduate Taught Assessment Regulations (PGTAR) for the 2024/25 academic year. Academic staff can use these generic criteria to create specific, contextualised criteria for student-facing material. Learn more about the PGT generic assessment criteria.

Information about MPP Marking Criteria and an example of a Postgraduate Feedback Sheet can be found on Moodle.

Feedback.

Students receive feedback to enhance their learning in four main ways.

1. For each topic, contributions to online web-forum discussions or any alternative activities, will have formative written or oral group feedback. Brief individual written feedback may be provided.
2. For each block, webinar contributions, & discussions, debates & presentations during residentials will involve oral feedback to the individual and group.
3. For each unit, summative and formative individual written feedback will be provided on assessments.
4. For research-based work, formative individual feedback will be provided during supervisions for case study, dissertation or portfolio.

PARTICIPATING AND CONTRIBUTING

This programme has been structured to develop a sustained and rich interactive learning community over the lifetime of the programme. Evidence shows that knowledge and understanding are fully developed in a collective interaction, rather than a didactic teaching environment.

Actively participating in all elements of the programme will contribute to the learning and educational experience of yourself, and the group as a whole.

In many cases, as part of this collective educational experience, we have students working in groups, sometimes with formal assessment.

Whilst studying a unit, we would expect you to engage with all activities, such as discussion forums and webinars.

It is also a University Regulation that you participate regularly. If you will be unable to participate in discussion forums, webinars or residentials due to ill health, then you must contact your Director of Studies as soon as possible to discuss your situation. This will enable us to take an appropriate course of action.

Special regulations apply if illness affects your ability to complete assessments. See section on Individual Mitigating Circumstances (page 12).

STAYING IN TOUCH

Email and Moodle discussion forums are the main means of staying in touch. Here are some simple guidelines:

Do you need to access programme content, or notifications of discussion forums?

Make sure you check your University email account regularly as this is where notifications will be sent.

Do you need to access important communications from the University or teaching staff writing to you individually?

- University messages and direct message to you are sent to your email address registered in SAMIS.

- To update your email address registered on SAMIS please go to: www.bath.ac.uk/samis
You can also access your University account online by typing mail.bath.ac.uk
- You should make a point of checking your account regularly and ensure your email inbox does not become full otherwise you run the risk of missing important information.

Do you have a query about teaching content or have a problem of understanding?

Post on the unit discussion board in Moodle, so everyone can see your query, contribute to answering it, learn and participate.

Do you have a query about the programme, or any practical, technological, regulation or assessment issues (including accessing material)?

Check the relevant sections of this Handbook. If you cannot find the answers you need, use the programme email address: mpp-hcdadmin@bath.ac.uk

Do you have a confidential matter to discuss, or a problem with a staff member or fellow student?

Email your personal tutor or Director of Studies directly, rk735@bath.ac.uk

Do you have a problem that cannot be addressed by your personal tutor or Director of Studies?

Please refer to Important Links and Information in the 'Student Handbook: University Information 2023/24' for support services, student union representatives, wellbeing advisors, as well as appeals and complaints procedures.

YOUR COURSE

PROGRAMME AND UNIT CATALOGUE

This is where you will find details about individual units for the current academic year. The catalogues also provide links to the relevant assessment regulations.

COURSE SPECIFICATION

Course Specifications set out important key information about your course, including the award title, the intended learning outcomes, and the structure of the course, as well as regulations for meeting the requirements for any exit awards and any agreed exemptions from your Assessment Regulations. You are expected to be familiar with this document and its contents.

YOUR PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The MSc in Public Policy comprises 4 taught units, and a research stage (dissertation or portfolio).

Each unit has a credit tariff ('credits'). The credit tariff relates to the approximate amount of study required for that unit.

Year 1:*Year 2:*DURATION OF STUDY

Candidates normally conclude the taught part of their studies within two years. There are three compulsory residentials; one on campus in Bath and two online.

PROGRAMME AIMS AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

The MSc in Public Policy has specific aims and should help students achieve specific learning outcomes. The overall programme aims and learning outcomes are set out below. In addition, each unit of the programme has its own aims and learning outcomes. These are set out in the current versions of detailed programme and unit descriptions available via the online catalogues: www.bath.ac.uk/catalogues

Overall, this programme aims to provide:

- In-depth knowledge, intellectual challenge, and practical skills in public policy, all structured to enhance part-time students' learning and professional career development.
- Comprehensive knowledge and critical understanding of standard and innovative explanations of what public policy is for, how public policies are made and delivered, and how they shape social, political and economic life.
- Advanced critical understanding of the political, economic and social dynamics that shape public policy development and outcomes in (self-chosen) specialist field(s) of public policy.
- Enhancement and deepening of students' skills in reviewing, analysing, applying and presenting data for public policy across a range of digital and non-digital formats.
- Enhancement and deepening of students' practical knowledge of issues and challenges in professional public policy work, and the elaboration of durable professional networks for continued knowledge exchange and career development.

Overall, the intended learning outcomes for students fall into three major categories: knowledge and understanding, intellectual skills; professional and practical skills.

As you go through the programme, reference will be made to these learning outcomes, and how they relate to the content, structure and learning for each unit.

a. Knowledge and understanding:

- comprehensive knowledge and critical understanding of the transformations in politics, society and political economy that shape public policy in diverse settings and cases.
- advanced knowledge of how political economy, economics, and public finances affect how public policy is organised, as well as how economic data can be critically interpreted to inform political argumentation and decision-making.
- critical and in-depth understanding of how knowledge, data and evidence are produced and the politics of knowledge production in policymaking.
- critical and in-depth knowledge of a self-chosen area of public policy that synthesises independent research and EITHER the application of public policy theory and research (dissertation pathway) OR practical policy analysis skills (portfolio pathway).

b. Intellectual skills:

- explanation and application of theoretical frameworks to public policy analysis.

- identification and analysis of relevant political, economic and social contextual conditions of public policymaking.
- design, deployment and critical interpretation of data, knowledge and evidence for political and public policy, including the use of data in digital environments
- evaluation of alternative tools and approaches for policy analysis and review, and the application of these in specific public policy cases.

AND EITHER [dissertation pathway]

- systematic review, interpretation and deployment of existing research to identify, analyse and investigate a problem in public policy analysis with reference to theories of public policy.
- rigorous, ethical and practical design and implementation of a research project to investigate a theoretical or empirical problem in public policy, including selection, integration and evaluation of appropriate theoretical framework, methods, data and analysis.
- explanation of relevant political, economic and social contextual conditions in a specific public policy case, and evaluation of findings with reference to theories of public policy.

OR [portfolio pathway]

- policy analysis and review that includes: problem identification and interpretation with reference to appropriate conceptual framework; evidence, data and knowledge assessment; policy and political argumentation; selection, application, evaluation and refinement of appropriate policymaking/analysis tools; and operationalization/delivery planning.

c. Professional/practice skills:

- using, interpreting and challenging evidence, knowledge and data from diverse sources, perspectives and paradigms in order to make a persuasive case for particular political or policy position.
- effective communication and strategic thinking both in and outside hybrid public/private policy-making environments;
- the design, develop and review options for policy and political action across these environments, including assessing their political, ethical, economic and social risks/opportunities.
- assessing dispersed and unpredictable political and economic forces, their implications for public policy development and outcomes, and develop strategic responses to these.
- development of strategies for mediating between conflicting goals to secure political agreement in a social media age.

ENGAGEMENT WITH UNITS

In our postgraduate taught units, we seek to create an interactive rather than a didactic teaching environment, with students actively contributing to the educational experience of the group as a whole. In many cases, as part of this collective educational experience, we have students working in groups. Sometimes assessment of which might be formal. This rich learning environment relies on students attending and participating in all activities (online or on campus).

Whilst studying a unit, we would expect you to engage with all activities (unless mitigating circumstances dictate otherwise). Non-engagement will not only reduce your own learning experience but could potentially reduce that of others in the group. We hope that you will appreciate the importance of this issue, in that students are partners in a collective learning experience.

OTHER COURSE SPECIFIC INFORMATION

SUSPENSIONS

During your programme of study, you are allowed two periods of suspension up to 12 months each. These will usually be taken following completion of a unit. Please discuss this with the Director of Studies as these will need formal approval.

Due to the nature of the programme (units are only run once a year), you will usually be required to take a 12-month period of suspension so you can restart the programme where you suspended study. If you're struggling with your workload, please do get in touch as soon as possible so we can help adjust your study plan accordingly. Please note that your tuition fee may have increased when you return to study.

Please discuss your options with the Director of Studies.
