

Being Accused of Misconduct

www.bath.ac.uk/corporate-information/student-disciplinary-procedure

This guidance is for students who have been alleged to have committed a Disciplinary Breach during their time as a student of the University of Bath. Students in this position are known at the 'Respondent'.

If another person has made an allegation against you, they are known as the 'Reporting Party'.

Representation during the Disciplinary Process

We strongly recommend that you bring a friend, advisor or representative to any meeting or hearing you are required to attend. The SU may provide an advisor to act as an independent representative for you during disciplinary hearings. You can contact the SU Advice and Support Team (www.thesubath.com/contacts/#advice) by emailing suadvice@bath.ac.uk, calling 01225 386906, or dropping in to the office at Level 2 of the SU.

How long should this process take?

You should normally receive information on the outcome of your allegation within 60 days of being informed of the start of the investigation.

Seeking Advice and Support

You may find it helpful to speak to a member of the Wellbeing Service (www.bath.ac.uk/professional-services/wellbeing-service) for emotional or wellbeing support.

If an allegation is made against you by another student, you will be instructed in your letter to contact the Deputy Director of Student Services, Counselling and Wellbeing Team who will direct you to arrange appointments with named wellbeing advisors. Any student making an allegation against you will be instructed to do the same with different advisors. This will ensure that you can both receive impartial support throughout the process.

You can also speak to an advisor at the SU's Advice and Support Centre (www.thesubath.com/advice) for advice and support throughout this process. The SU is independent of the University.

You can access these support services before, during and after the disciplinary process.

We are aware that it can be difficult and stressful to be accused of a disciplinary breach. The University will not make any assumptions, and you will not be considered 'at fault' until an allegation has been fully investigated. Precautionary measures may be applied to keep both you and (if relevant) a Reporting Party safe. You will be treated fairly and offered advice and support.

If you have a disability and would like to request reasonable adjustments to this disciplinary process, please email administrators-student-services@bath.ac.uk in order that appropriate arrangements can be made. If you need a Disability Advisor or Support Worker to accompany you to the investigatory interview, this can be arranged in addition to the friend or advisor outlined in the paragraph above.

If you are a non-native English speaker, we can arrange for a telephone translation service for the meeting. Please email administrators-student-services@bath.ac.uk if you would like us to organise this for you.

We have summarised the support services available to students below.

Support available to all students	The SU Advice and Support Centre	The Wellbeing Service
Talking you through the process For example; explaining what to expect during the disciplinary procedure.	Yes	Yes

Category C misconduct

The University will investigate the allegation against you. This may include:

- Meeting with you to discuss the allegation
- Meeting with the person who made the allegation where applicable (the 'Reporting Party')
- Meeting with any witnesses
- Reviewing any materials provided in relation to the allegation, for example social media posts.

You will be expected to participate fully in the investigation by attending an investigatory meeting and sharing information when asked.

At the end of the investigation, the investigators will produce an investigative report which they will forward to the Disciplinary Committee. This is a committee of staff from across the University who are trained to assess Disciplinary Cases.

You will receive a letter requiring you to attend a Disciplinary Committee hearing. This letter will include a copy of the investigative report. You will have three calendar days to submit any additional evidence to that included in the investigative report, or in response to the findings of the investigative report. Inclusion of any additional evidence will be at the discretion of the Chair of the Disciplinary Committee and will be shared with all parties involved in the case.

The Disciplinary Committee will consider the investigative report. You will be able to give a statement at the hearing and may be asked questions by the committee members. More detailed information on what will happen at the Disciplinary Committee hearing can be found here:

www.bath.ac.uk/publications/disciplinary-committee-hearing-process.

Following the hearing, you will receive a letter and an email detailing:

- The outcome of the investigation (whether the alleged breach is proven, or not)
- Any sanctions that may be applied. Potential sanctions can be found here: www.bath.ac.uk/publications/university-of-bath-sanctioning-guidance.

In certain circumstances, you can submit an appeal against the decision of the Disciplinary Committee by submitting an Appeals Form to governance@bath.ac.uk within 14 days of the date of your outcome letter. For more information on the appeals process, please visit the appeals webpage: www.bath.ac.uk/guides/disciplinary-appeals-process.
