CGR&IS Seminar Series 2018-19

Andrew Wright

Durham Energy Institute

is giving a talk on

Regulation, regulators and the regulated:

Perspectives on the regulation of public services

Andrew Wright will give a talk drawing from his many years of experience, particularly as a senior partner in Energy Systems and a Board Member at Ofgem, the gas and electricity regulator for Great Britain. He has worked at Ofgem in board level positions for more than ten years, including a period as interim Chief Executive. Andrew has more than 30 years of experience of working in the gas and electricity sector. Before joining Ofgem he was a senior equity research analyst covering UK and European utilities for a number of major investment banks, including, most recently, UBS.
